

Basketball star John Wall gets first tattoos

06/24/13 / Author: Samantha Baker

Despite years of being praised for not having any tattoos, basketball star John Wall recently decided to get quite a few pieces inked on his chest and back. Unlike many basketball stars, Wall wants his tattoos to be extremely discrete and practically unnoticeable, unless you happen to catch him without his shirt on. Wall is proof that time changes everyone but that it is also possible to maintain a clean-cut marketable image in a league where the athletes really don't seem to be image-conscious all of the time.