It's finally that time of year again – ready the grill, chill the booze and light the bonfire, spring has officially arrived and summer is right around the corner. There is no better way to celebrate the seasonal change than with some spring-inspired fare.

Whether it's sipping fruit-infused drinks or chowing down on a juicy burger, local restaurants are now switching to spring menus after a long and dreadful winter.

Take Kansas City, for example. Local restaurants Tannin Wine Bar (<http://www.tanninwinebar.com>) and Red Door Woodfire Kitchen and Bar (<http://reddoorgrill.com>) are using fresh ingredients to add a dash of spring to many of their entrées and drinks. Whether you enjoy going out for dinner or staying in and cooking, take a note from the local cuisine in regards to what to eat now that the weather warmed up.
